VA 1.62/2:

ABOUT THE COVER

The mall of the new Hunter Holmes McGuire VA Medical Center in Richmond, Virginia opened for its designers, the hospital interior design team from Interiors magazine.

The original 1784 bed McGuire Hospital, an Army evacuation center, received its first patients in June, 1944. The VA assumed responsibility in 1946. The 814 bed replacement facility began receiving patients in January, 1964.

The hospital is named in honor of Dr. Hunter Holmes McGuire, a distinguished Civil war surgeon. His great-grandson, Dr. Hunter Holmes McGuire, Jr., now serves as its Chief of Surgery.

FOREWORD

This publication revises, consolidates, and updates data previously presented in the Directory of Veterans Administration Facilities and the Veterans Administration Facilities Number and Type. The state listing of facilities reflects data by state, county, city, and U.S. congressional district locations; congressional representative; type of facility; and the 3-digit station number. Other facility listings have been simplified to show only state and city locations. Additionally, this publication, for the first time, attempts to identify various types of operational elements found in the Veterans Administration.

Each operational element at a facility (station) is counted separately. A medical center and domiciliary with a nursing home care unit will be counted as four operational elements; a medical center, a domiciliary, an outpatient clinic, and nursing home care unit. Operational elements should not be confused with facilities as one facility may have several operational elements. All medical centers and the independent domiciliary have outpatient clinics. Outpatient clinic substations (OCS) are under the jurisdiction of a medical center or an independent clinic. Outpatient clinics identified as OCMC's have clinical jurisdiction but are under the administrative jurisdiction of a medical center, and are not physically located with the medical center.

We have added some facilities not previously listed in this publication. These include the regional offices of audit and investigation; veterans assistance centers; geriatric research, education, and clinical centers; regional medical education centers; dental education centers; cooperative health manpower education programs; the continuing education center; the engineering training center; and Vietnam Veteran outreach centers.

Changes, additions, and deletions since September 30, 1983

NATIONAL CEMETERY (NC)

Fort Richardson, a U.S. Army post cemetery in Anchorage, Alaska, was transferred to VA responsibility at 1984 Memorial Day ceremonies. It is now known as Fort Richardson National Cemetery.

NATIONAL CEMETERY AREA OFFICE (NCAO)

The national cemetery area office in San Francisco, California moved to Denver, Colorado in January of 1984.

NURSING HOME CARE UNITS (NHCU)

Ten new nursing home care units have been established. Richmond, Virginia's new hospital, built in 1983, incorporated an NHCU. Portland, Oregon converted beds in Vancouver, Washington to NHCU care in March, 1984. Batavia, New York converted beds to an NHCU in April, 1984. Ann Arbor, Michigan; Atlanta, Georgia; and Wichita, Kansas opened NHCU's in June 1984. Tampa, Florida opened an NHCU in December 1984. Washington, DC; Boise, Idaho; and Seattle, Washington opened NHCU's in September, 1985.

OUTPATIENT CLINICS (OPC)

The outpatient clinic at St. Petersburg, Florida was closed in June of 1984. Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania opened a new outpatient clinic at Sayre, Pennsylvania in December 1983 and the Tampa, Florida MC opened an outpatient clinic at Port Richey, Florida in September, 1985.
